

Completing Biosample Request Activities in the MJFF Grant Portal

Last verified by Christina Murphy on 08-28-2025

Overview: If you would like to request biosamples as part of your RFA or RFP application, you will need to first check that the funding opportunity (listed on the MJFF website) permits biosamples. Once this is confirmed, you will need to identify your desired cohort and complete the Biosample Request activity in the Grant Portal as part of your application. Please note that if you are applying for an RFA program you must submit your biosample request at the pre-proposal stage. For more information about MJFF's available biosamples, please see MJFF Biospecimen's webpage and Biobank website.

COMPLETING THE BIOSAMPLE ACTIVITY AT THE PRE-PROPOSAL STAGE (RFA PROGRAMS)

- First Steps: If you are looking to request biosamples as part of your application, you will need to complete the Biosample Request activity in the Grant Portal. As outlined in the Instructions for Submitting a Proposal guidance, once you have logged into your application, go to the Project Information & Description tab where you will see the question “Will you be requesting biosamples as part of your application?” Select yes and a Biosample Request activity will be created and will appear right below the question. Click the orange Open button to open the activity.

you are not requesting a specific sample cohort, you do not need to answer those questions.

Upon filling out the fields, click the Submit button at the bottom of the form. Then, you can exit out of the Biosample Request activity and continue completing the rest of your application.

- Editing the Biosample Request Activity: If you need to return to the Biosample Request activity to change an answer, you can do so by opening the activity and clicking the Revise button at the bottom of the page. If you are revising an answer, be sure to click the Submit button again to resubmit the activity. Revisions can continue to be made up until you submit your application.
- Submission: Once you are ready to submit your application, please be sure to check that you have hit Submit on the biosample activity. This activity will need to be submitted before you submit your entire application or the system will prevent you from submitting your full application.
- Next Steps: After your application has been submitted, the application and biosample request will go through review. If your application is chosen to move ahead to the Full Proposal stage, you will receive an email regarding your application as well as a separate email regarding your Biosample Request Form.

COMPLETING THE BIOSAMPLE ACTIVITY AT THE FULL PROPOSAL STAGE (RFA OR RFP PROGRAMS)

- Continuing your Biosample Request: If your biosample request has been approved to move forward as part of an RFA program, or if you have been invited to apply for biosamples as part of an RFP program, you will receive a separate email inviting you to continue the biosample request activity.
- Completing your Biosample Request: When in your application, find the activity in the Biosample Request section of the Project Information & Description tab. Open the individual biosample request by clicking the orange Open button.

If you have been invited as part of an RFP, complete all required items in the activity. If you have been invited as part of an RFA, the previous items you filled out will appear, but you will have to complete one additional item at this full proposal stage. At the bottom of the request form, under Template Upload, you will see a “Download Cohort Template” button. Based on the cohort listed in the email you received inviting you to submit, download the corresponding template. Complete the Word document and upload it as a .docx file. Unless directed by MJFF please do not adjust your previously submitted Biosample Request at this stage.

- Submitting the Biosample Request Activity: Once all required items are complete and the template is uploaded, submit the Biosample Request activity. You can then close the activity and continue completing your application. This activity will need to be submitted before you submit your entire application or the system will prevent you from submitting your full application.

Removing your Biosample Requests: If at any point you wish to no longer request biosamples, or wish to be in a different cohort, please email resources@michaeljfox.org.
